Bavaria Probes Atrocity Figure

MUNICH, Germany, April 16 (AP) — A Bavarian government official is under investigation for his part in the deportation of 100,000 Dutch Jews to Nazi extermination camps from 1940 to 1943.

The Bavarian interior ministry said he is former SS Maj. Gen. Wilhelm Harster, a Nazi police official during the German occupation of Holland. He is an adviser to the Bavarian interior minister, but a spokesman said he was absent from his post because of illness.

The West Berlin newspaper Morgenpost, published an interview recently in which Harster said he shared responsibility for the deportation of 100,000 Dutch Jews to Germany. He also told the Morgenpost he was the "wartime superior" of Erich Rajakovic, a collaborator of Adolf Eichmann whose anti-Jewish activities are now being investigated in Austria.

Rajakovic was expelled from Switzerland last week and went
